● Free Evening Classes

Creative writing, Academic writing, and TOEIC are the two subjects in the evening classes. These are optional classes that CET organized for students who want to improve their writing skills and knowledge of TOEIC. In the writing class, students not only studies paragraph and essay structures but also, they can practice writing good and organized contents. These will help them become more knowledgeable on writing a paragraph or an essay. The students who desire to get high scores in the TOEIC test could join the class every Wednesday night. This class is helpful for those who want to have wider knowledge about grammar, structure, and other skills needed in the TOEIC test. With these new classes, CET aims to help students to have more opportunities to study and practice their English language skills for them to communicate better in English.
